

Global LED Leader Recognizes Coghlin Companies for Accelerating Time-to-Market Product Delivery

Domestic, end-to-end outsourced manufacturing company receives Collaborative Partnership Award for improving time-to-market in the highly competitive LED market

Online PR News – 22-March-2011 –Coghlin Companies, a privately held company specializing in helping companies cost effectively improve their time-to-market, today announced that it received the Collaborative Partnership Award from a global LED provider for accelerating product time-to-market. With the proven ability to overcome design and manufacturing challenges that typically hinder time-to-market, Coghlin Companies is the partner of choice for companies looking to reduce costs, decrease overhead, prevent product engineering and manufacturing delays and achieve revenue faster.

"An unfettered path to manufacturing success is critical for companies needing to capitalize on first-to-market leadership opportunities," said Chris Coghlin, CEO and President, Coghlin Companies. "Coghlin Companies' flexibility, attention to detail and breadth of expertise across the entire product lifecycle allows us to serve as a seamless extension of our customers' businesses. The Collaborative Partnership Award reaffirms the value of Coghlin Companies' integrated, holistic approach to winning the time-to-market challenge."

Comprised of three wholly owned subsidiaries specializing in all aspects of the global capital equipment supply chain, Coghlin Companies' solutions span product design, engineering, global component procurement, contract manufacturing, logistics, and field support solutions.
